DRUM BEATING STARTS AGAIN FOR BUILDING

PORTERVILLE — Drum beating has started again aimed at creating favorable public opinion toward construction of a community building in Porterville suitable for and large enough to provide facilities for "small conventions" and meeting places for veteran groups as well as other organizations.

In general comment at a meeting of interested persons Tuesday night in the Porterville City hall, it appeared that although no firm plans have been developed in detail, thinking ran along the lines of a building with flat floor space to handle a dinner crowd of at least 1,000 persons.

In the building would be kitchen and food handling facilities; a number of small rooms suitable for organization meetings and also for meetings in connection with conventions; perhaps a secondary general purpose room, smaller than the main room, to handle meetings and dinners; also outdoor facilities of recreational or park nature.

Opinion as to location seemed to favor "the Santa Fe property" on East Olive opposite the fair grounds where the Santa Fe railroad owns about 30 acres, with all or part of this property to be purchased if possible.

It is expected that Santa Fe officials will be in Porterville within the next few days to discuss possibilities of a local public agency acquiring this property.

The gray mare, Ron Royal AHCR 35,505, was sired by Royal Storm; dam was Ronwinnie, with breeding going back through an impressive ancestry of famous Arabians. Buyer was "Klee Arabians," of Los Angeles. Dr. Baucom, whose ranch is located on the northeast edge of Porterville, has other top Arabians coming on. (Edwards Studio photo)

USDA AGRICULTURE SURVEY IS UNDERWAY IN NATION

SACRAMENTO — The most extensive agricultural survey of the year started swinging through the Nation's farm gates May 24.

Nearly 70,000 farmers coast-to-coast will be interviewed in the annual June Acreage, Livestock and Labor Enumerative survey. Conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Statistical Reporting service, this survey is the springboard for many 1972 crop and livestock production estimates and other farming forecasts.

By June 6, the survey will enumerate all agricultural activity within 16,500 scientifically selected land segments representing all U.S. farmland. The number of segments in a State ranges from 250 to over 1,000; only Alaska and Hawaii are not in the program.

"California has 1,026 segments for enumeration which will mean personal interviews with about 4,000 farmers," according to W. Ward Henderson, statistician in charge of USDA's California Crop and Livestock Reporting service. "Our fieldworkers, or enumerators, will ask farmers about planted acreages, numbers of chickens, hogs, cattle and calves, and farm labor," Henderson said.

The main aim of the undertaking, however, is to identify acreages planted to major crops. This information will serve as a base for crop production estimates from July through harvest. Other near future releases stemming from the survey will be the June estimate of hogs and pigs, July cow-calf inventory, and July farm labor tally.

Henderson said the survey will also provide a sample of corn, cotton, wheat, and

MRS. VERNON GILL IS COUNTY COWBELLE OF YEAR

Mrs. Vernon Gill

PORTERVILLE — Mrs. Vernon Gill, of Pleasant Valley, near Springville - daughter of a former Montana cattleman, wife of a descendant of the pioneer Tulare County cattle family and mother of a cattleman - has been named 1972 CowBelle of the Year by the Tulare County CowBelles. She will be honored at a convention of the California CowBelles association in Monterey next December.

The honoree was a charter member of the Tulare County CowBelles; her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dale Gill of Springville, is currently president of the organization.

A native of Montana, elder daughter of Mrs. Alice Allumbaugh and the late Charles B. Allumbaugh, Mrs. Gill came to Porterville when in high school. After graduating from Porterville Union High School, she was employed for two years at the old First National bank, before her marriage in 1925 to Vernon Gill, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gill.

Allumbaugh, who served as Tulare County District 1 supervisor from 1932 to 1941, had been in the cattle raising business in Montana before locating in the Porterville area.

The Vernon Gills have two sons, Dale and Brent. Dale is associated in the cattle industry with his father, as well as owning a ranch himself. Brent is owner-operator of the Whitridge Tire service in Porterville. He makes his home on a Gill ranch in Frazier valley.

There are three grandsons and one granddaughter to carry on the Gill family name in the cattle industry; Cindy Gill is 13 and very active in the Springville 4-H club; grandsons include Ryan, 4; Louis, 2; and Justin, 1.

Editorial Comment

ENVIRONMENTALISTS SAY 'NO' ON "ENVIRONMENTAL" NO. 9

Proposition No. 9 on the June 6 ballot is officially titled "Environment. Initiative." The people trying to peddle it to California voters call it a "clean environment act". They are hawking a fraud. Who says so? Environmentalists.

The Western Region of the National Audubon Society — one of the nation's oldest and most respected conservation organizations — has joined many other prestigious environmental groups and individuals in a strong warning against Proposition No. 9.

Writing in the April issue of "Audubon Topics, West," Paul M. Howard, Jr., the society's western regional director, said:

"Proposition 9 . . . not only lacks sound ecological reasoning, its sweeping attempts to be all inclusive disqualifies it for support."

Similar condemnations of No. 9 have come from the California Wildlife Federation, affiliate of the National Wildlife Federation; the Southern Council of Conservation Clubs; Sportsmen's Council of Central California; San Diego County Wildlife Federation; Associated Sportsmen of California; Sportsmen's Council of the Redwood Empire, and many others.

That's a powerful array of environmental opposition to something that purports to be pro-environment; a convincing knowledgeable voice saying "NO on No. 9."

CALIFORNIA SPEAKS

MICHAEL W. SCHNELL, Major, USA, Ret., Mountain View—"The credibility of future U.S. presidents in foreign affairs hinges on the support we give or withdraw from our current chief executive. Do we want a will-o-the-wisp president or one who evaluates all the facts and makes a sound decision?"

CHRISTIAN NELSON, Martinez—"One fact is evident in the area of environmental improvement, and that is that not much will happen unless economic factors make it possible."

DOROTHY McDONALD, Anaheim, on women's lib—"True, women will have to give up their pedestal in this new society, but a pedestal is a very uncomfortable, cramped place to spend one's life."

ADOLPH SCHUMAN, Hillsborough, dress manufacturing exec, civic leader, philanthropist—"Giving is a means of returning the investment the community put in you. I give my money and keep my mouth shut and am grateful I'm not on the receiving end."

A. L. HENRY, Orinda—"The fact that the Communists intend to take over and control South Vietnam cannot be ignored. Americans (especially the Fulbrights, McCloskeys and McGovern) would do well to remember Munich and the selling out of Czechoslovakia that did not bring peace."

GEORGE M. DEAN, Hillsborough, retired utility exec., active civic leader—"In my lifetime I cannot recall when young people had so many divergent forces pulling at them; but I have tremendous confidence in today's youth."

GAIL FISHER, Hollywood TV Emmy winner—"Happiness is a fleeting thing that you have to grab when and where you can. The rest of the time you just have to roll with the punches."

ANNE S. YOUNG, L.A.—"When Women's Lib first came out I thought, if we want our homes to be in the same mess the world is in, let the men take care of them; now that I've worked under women supervisors all I can say is God help the world if women run it!"

Political Parade

By CLEM WHITAKER, JR.

How will California's newly enfranchised young people vote in the June 6 primary, the first big test of their interest in "working within the system to bring change?"

Assembly Republican Leader Bob Monagan has some interesting observations to make in his newsletter, Minority Report.

"Only a few months ago," he says, "some people were saying that the youth simply 'won't vote.' They believe apathy will take its toll at the polls."

"However, there is a more realistic and constructive view about the youth vote. This view centers on asking the important question — what are the concerns of youth?"

"The new eligible voters represent 18 percent of the population, or about 25 million persons. This is a number that can't be ignored. They are getting involved and accepting their share of the responsibility of the governed," Monagan says.

By way of illustration, Monagan points out a recent election at Davis, California, site of a University of California branch.

The students, in an interesting phenomenon, got together, organized the student vote and swept the city council races.

At this point, Monagan says, "But this election, and recent ones like it, does not hold the key to what the young people's response in politics will be."

Of the 25 million new eligible voters, more than 17 million are not going to colleges or universities. They are out earning a living or serving the country in the armed forces. Some of them are still in high school.

"Thus far," says Monagan, "there has been no opportunity to assess the impact of this

OPPOSITION TO PROPOSITION NO. 9 IS WIDE-SPREAD THROUGHOUT STATE

SAN FRANCISCO — More than 420 California statewide, regional and local organizations — representing many points of view — have joined together in a common effort to defeat counter-productive Proposition No. 9 — the pollution initiative on the June 6 ballot.

Opposition to No. 9 also comes from the State Resources Agency, the State Board of Agriculture, State Air Resources board, State Water Resources board, the Irrigation Districts Association of California, the League of California Cities and the California County Supervisors association.

Business and industrial opposition to No. 9 comes from the California chamber of commerce, California Hotel and Motel association, California Manufacturers association, California Real Estate board, California Trucking association, California Land Title association, and the Associated General Contractors of California.

Other statewide groups that have said "no on No. 9" include California Cattleman's association, California Dry Cleaners association, California League for Nursing, California Service Agency, California Society of Professional Engineers, California Taxpayers association, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the Association of California Life Insurance companies, and the Printing Industry Association of California.

Newspapers that have editorialized against Proposition No. 9's rigidity, slap-dash, hodge-podge, self-defeating and counter-productive characteristics include the Los Angeles Times, the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, the Sacramento Bee, the San Francisco Chronicle, the San Francisco Examiner, the San Diego Union, the San Diego Evening Tribune, the Oakland Tribune, the Santa Rosa Press-Democrat, the Whittier News, the Bakersfield Californian, the Sacramento Union, and the Santa Ana Register.

Farmers Can Get Emergency Loans

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Bob Mathias announced that fruit growers and farmers in Kern and Tulare Counties are eligible for Farmers Home Administration Emergency Loans through June 30, 1973. This action was taken because a hard freeze during the last week in March caused damage to fruit and nut crops.

FIRST TOMATOES BEING PICKED IN TULARE COUNTY

VISALIA — First tomatoes were picked from spring plantings in Tulare county last week, according to a report from the office of Agricultural Commissioner Elvin O. Mankins.

Potato harvest should get underway around the first of June: Valencia oranges are beginning to move better; Navel orange harvest is continuing at a slow pace; and limited harvest of early variety Freestone peaches and plums is continuing, Mankins says.

Cotton started coming along better as a result of warmer weather (before the weekend weather change) and alfalfa is being cut and baled. Dryland barley and wheat are being cut for hay, and some fields are being grazed by sheep.

California's preliminary potato acreage for 1972 is set at 2,100 acres by Crop and Livestock Reporting service officials.

COUNTY DISPLAY TAKES SECOND AT ORANGE SHOW

SAN BERNARDINO — Tulare County's recreational display was awarded second prize from among the more than 20 county displays showing at the 57th National Orange show, which opened for a 12-day run on Thursday, May 18, at San Bernardino in southern California. Prize money was $550.

Other than the display itself, the most outstanding feature of the whole citrus building was the excellent fruit in the Tulare County display which was furnished by the five citrus exchanges of Tulare county. While the rest of the counties in the building showed their fruit, it was obvious that the Tulare County fruit was superior to anything in the show, according to Wayne Robertson, manager of the Tulare County chamber of commerce.

Haden To Retire From Directorship

VISALIA — George Haden, director of curricular services for Tulare County Department of Education for the past 18 years, recently announced his retirement from that position. During this period, Haden was instrumental in the initiation and development of such educational projects as neighborhood youth corps, migrant education programs, juvenile crime prevention, and pre-school child care centers.

Thrill Shows On Wheels And Horses At Kings Fair

HANFORD — A thrill show every day, on wheels or horses, will be on tap at the Kings District Fair at the fairgrounds in Hanford June 14-18.

Championship rodeo that is expected to attract more than 125 California stars in bull dogging, roping and bronc riding will be staged at 8 p.m. Friday, June 16, and Saturday, June 17 in the grandstand arena. Buddy Alan, western singing star and son of Buck Owens will present a musical intermission show during the rodeo.

On Sunday night June 18 the grinding crunch of smashing automobiles will mark the annual "Destruction Derby" in which leading riders from all over the state will compete. The last car able to move a way under its own power from the toppled, smoking wreckage will be declared winner in a show that's always a sensation.

A new event to the fair circuit will hold the arena spotlight on Thursday, June 15. Tri-wheel cycles whose hopped up flea-power engines drive them at speeds up to 90 miles an hour will race over an obstacle track. Deep pits that will send the little cycles flying into the air, mud holes and sharp turns will test the skill of the drivers in a spectacular event.

A five race card, including a futurity for two year olds will be staged on Sunday, June 18. A junior rodeo, expected to draw 250 young stars into competition for a $500 silver saddle, will be staged starting at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 14, opening day of the fair.

DAIRY PRINCESS WILL BE NAMED

TULARE — Dairy princess for District 9, that includes Tulare and Kings counties, will be picked tomorrow night, Friday, in ceremonies at the TDES hall in Tulare; a social hour starts at 6:30 p.m., the program at 7:30 p.m. Winner will compete for the title of California Dairy princess at the Century Plaza hotel in Los Angeles, June 29.

When you spend an evening out, the last thing you want to do is worry about your youngsters at home. Here are a few suggestions that may help both you and the babysitter relax.

Write down the names of the places you're going, the phone numbers and the approximate time you'll be at each place. Have emergency numbers, including the family doctor's written down, too. There are special blanks for emergency numbers on the inside cover of your phone book.

Taking these simple precautions before you leave home will make your night out more enjoyable.

Here's something we want you to know. Everyone from Pacific Telephone in Porterville who visits your home or business carries an official identification card. These ID cards show each employee's name, photograph and signature. If you ever have the slightest doubt about anyone who says, "I'm from the telephone company," just ask to see proof. Our people will be glad to show you their identification.

Giant Water District Proposed To Push For East Side Project

VISALIA — Formation of an East Valley Water district, extending from Stockton on the north to Oildale on the south, has been proposed to the Tulare County Water commission by Ralph Rosedale, Dinuba farmer and chairman of the Tulare County Republican Central committee.

Rosedale said that creation of such a district would put "political muscle" in efforts to get the proposed federal project going. He pointed out that a number of water entities in the San Joaquin valley are working to implement construction of the eastside canal, a unit of the Central Valley Water project, but that things are now at a standstill.

County water commissioners offered assistance in setting up a feasibility study.

Would you vote to Stop all Truck and Freight Train Transportation in California?

You certainly wouldn't if you happen to be one of the 1,000,000 Californians who work directly in the transportation industry! You'd lose your job within a few days after election.

And if you think about it for a minute or two, you realize that no matter what you do for a living, you'd be in serious trouble.

Businesses of all kinds would no longer be able to market their products.

Farm crops would rot in the fields and on the trees.

Unemployment would reach staggering proportions.

You wouldn't be able to provide yourself and your family with the basic necessities of life!

Nobody in his right mind would vote "yes" on such a stupid, vicious proposal. Yet that's what you're being asked to do when you go to the polls on June 6 to vote on Proposition No. 9—the Pollution Initiative.

Down in the fine print, Proposition No. 9 contains an innocent-sounding provision limiting the content of sulfur in diesel fuel sold for use in internal combustion engines in California to .035 per cent.

The limit now in effect is .5 per cent—14 times as much!

The very small amount of diesel fuel now available that would meet this ridiculous requirement is insufficient even to fill the needs of public transit buses, which run on the lowest sulfur content diesel now in production.

If Proposition No. 9 should pass, the next day the great majority of trucks and diesel-powered freight locomotives would have to stop running—because there would be no "legal" fuel available to operate them!

It would take an undetermined period of time—two years?—six years?—nobody knows for sure, before refineries could be adapted at enormous expense to produce diesel fuel in the quantity needed to meet our transportation needs.

Knowing the facts, nobody in his right mind would vote for Proposition No. 9.

LOSING YOUR JOB WON'T SOLVE POLLUTION!

And voting for Proposition No. 9 won't solve pollution. The Technical Advisory Committee of the Air Resources Board of California reports that even if the sulfur content of diesel fuel required by Proposition No. 9 could be achieved, it would reduce sulfur-dioxide emissions in Los Angeles County by only three-tenths of one percent! What a price you're being asked to pay to accomplish virtually nothing!

Vote NO on Proposition No. 9

CITRUS BLOOM BELOW AVERAGE SAYS MANKINS

VISALIA — Bee hives are being shifted more rapidly to different citrus orchards due to below-average bloom, according to County Agricultural Commissioner Elvin Mankins.

Growers are actively spraying for insect pests in orchards, said Mankins. Small volumes of Valencia are being picked for export.

Harvest of early peaches is underway. Thinning of late variety peaches and nectarines continues.

Most cotton fields are showing a good stand, but growth has been slow. Cultivation and thinning is underway.

Planting of green beans for the cannery has begun, and fields that are already up are making good growth. Second cutting of alfalfa fields has also started in most areas.

Barley fields are maturing rapidly, although wind has caused considerable lodging in some areas. Oats are well-headed out and are being cut and baled or green-chopped.

Cucumbers and squash are being picked. Tomatoes are making good growth, and first crops are setting well.

New Disease Threatens Tomato Crops

RIVERSIDE — A newly-identified disease - Fusarium crown rot - threatens southern California's tomato industry.

Controls and ways to prevent spread of the disease to northern California are being sought by a University of California research team of plant pathologists.

In some San Diego County fields, as high as 75 to 90 percent of the tomato plants have been infected. The disease is caused by a new strain of Fusarium related to the tomato wilt pathogen, and has reduced yields on farms from San Luis Rey to the Mexican border.

Although no tomato variety has been found that completely resists the disease, Farm Advisor Bernarr Hall said an Ace variety seems to have some field tolerance to the disease.

GREGORY WILL SPEAK TONIGHT

SHARMAN UNDER MEDICAL CARE BECAUSE OF VOICE

BAKERSFIELD — Jerry West substituted for Bill Sharman as guest speaker at Cal State Bakersfield's First Annual Basketball Awards banquet, held last night at the Bakersfield Inn.

Sharman, who has been advised by his physician that he must cancel all public engagements that require any speaking is currently under the care of one of the nation's leading speech therapists because of continuing throat problems.

The Awards banquet honored the "Roadrunners" of the CSB basketball team, who set a 21-5 record in their first year of play.

SAGA OF the new stage at the 1972 Porterville fair, from left to right, top to bottom, more or less: Joe Mosconi, at the mike, president of the Porterville Breakfast Lions club, presents a new outdoor stage of magnificent proportions to Fair Board Chairman Babe Hodgson, complete with excellent backdrop, as shown with pet parade winners grouped together and the Grossmont High School band getting ready for its opening-night concert. And Miss Porterville, Marilyn Thomas, welcomes Band Director James W. Nichols to Porterville. Then castastrophe - the winds came and over went the backdrop into a twisted mass of steel and canvas. But the show went on, ending with massed Grossmont and Monache bands on stage - a total of 180 musicians. Breakfast Lion members and fair personnel worked all day to get the backdrop anchored in place for the second and third nights of the fair - which, of course, is show biz. As for fair directors - a big "thank you" goes to the Breakfast Lions for their efforts. (Hammond Studio photos)

Banning Use Of Dogs By Deer Hunters Is Major Question Facing Commission

SACRAMENTO — The California Fish and Game commission, still struggling with one major unresolved issue, will adopt 1972-73 hunting regulations at a meeting Friday, May 26, in Los Angeles.

Commission President Joseph Russ III said the meeting, in Room 1138 of the New State Building at 107 South Broadway, will begin at 9 a.m.

The single question of general interest that the commission must answer at the meeting is whether to ban the use of dogs in deer hunting.

Meeting last month in San Diego, commissioners announced their intention to adopt regulations that would outlaw dogs in deer hunting. Commissioners indicated they were taking the action to place hunters on notice that the move was being considered.

Since that time the commission office has been flooded with mail from sportsmen protesting the action, which was taken in response to complaints from landowners and protectionists that dogs running in packs harass deer.

The Department of Fish and Game told the commission that dogs used by hunters may be one element in the harassment of deer, but not a major element. States in which dogs may not be used for deer hunting still have the problem, the DFG said.

According to the DFG, the proposed ban could reduce the annual take of deer, particularly in coastal counties, and could result in the loss of many crippled animals.

DUFFY PROPOSES TAX EXEMPTION FOR FARM GAS

SACRAMENTO - Legislation recently introduced by Assemblyman Gordon Duffy would exempt farmers and ranchers from having to pay a new California sales tax on gasoline, to be imposed by the state beginning July 1.

Duffy stated that since revenue from the new tax will be used primarily for highways and other public transportation, persons involved in agriculture should be exempted. Gasoline for farm purposes is currently subject to an 11-cent-per-gallon tax paid by all motorists, but this tax is refundable under present law.

PC Instructors Named Outstanding Educators

PORTERVILLE - Porterville college instructors Fred Belcher, Severo Garcia, Dean Semple, and Helen Winn will be included in the national publication, "Outstanding Educators of America for 1972". Guidelines for selection for the honor include an educator's talent in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, and professional recognition.

soybean fields across the country for on the ground plant observations during the growing season. This is part of SRS's objective measurement program which indicates yields per acre.

Working with county road maps and aerial photographs, the well-trained enumerators locate each segment selected for the survey. They talk with each land operator to screen out non-agricultural portions. The farmers, however, are asked an extensive array of questions.

Mail questionnaires and phone interviews with some large-scale operators help complete the agricultural picture. This approach allows statisticians to provide the most reliable figures for farmers, policymakers, and other data users.

"Every single interview is important in a probability sample such as the June survey - there's no good way to replace a farmer who does not respond," Henderson says. "That's why cooperation is vital to bringing the farm production picture into proper focus. All answers will be kept confidential and only state, regional, and national summaries will be released."

Drum Beating

night meeting, attended by some 40 or 50 persons representing various community organizations, was Orville Lofton, who has been working with veteran groups and other organizations over a period of considerable time exploring the possibilities of support for such a project.

In fact Lofton and others quietly "started the ball rolling" when previous plans for a community center civic building failed to get off the ground.

He pointed out, along with Porterville Mayor Larry Cotta, that the previously-considered community building was visualized more as a recreational, welfare, special services facility that would not have met the need for a large general purpose, community center, as is now being discussed.

As for cost of the proposed project, it seemed that the community would be looking at a million dollar project. Possible sources of money were discussed as the City of Porterville, the Porterville Union High School district, the Porterville Memorial district, the County of Tulare, and the federal government.

Opinion was expressed that federal funds might be available for two-thirds of the cost, with the community, through its public agencies, providing the other one-third.

As to what local agency would assume responsibility for increasing the tax rate sufficiently to finance the project, to enter into negotiations with the federal government, and to purchase property, there was no immediate agreement, in fact it seemed that city and memorial district representatives were jockeying around a bit on these matters.

Lofton asked that individuals and organizations favoring construction of a new community building immediately address letters to him, P.O. Box 828, Porterville, 93257.

He said that if the project does materialize, it might be several years before it could be completed.

Organizations represented at the meeting included: Directors of the Porterville Memorial district, with Board Chairman

Barney Richardson as spokesman; the City of Porterville, with Cotta as spokesman; Post 20, The American Legion and Legion Auxiliary; Post 2001 Veterans of Foreign Wars, and VFW Auxiliary; World War I Barracks and Auxiliary; Springville VFW and Auxiliary; the C.S.O., City of Hope Auxiliary, Golden Age club, 20-And, Concerned Citizens, Springville Grange, Porterville Grange, Golden Rod Rebekah lodge, Odd Fellows lodge, Porterville Lodge of Elks, Mexican American Civic Organization, Breakfast Lions, Quota club, Toastmasters club, the County of Tulare, represented by Supervisor Ray Muller; and the Community Center Civic organization, represented by Larry Durtche.

Most outspoken support for the project came from the Veterans, senior citizen, and Mexican-American groups. Both city of Porterville and Memorial district officials indicated an interest in further study and development of more specific plans and possible methods of financing.

There seemed to be general agreement that the Porterville community would benefit from a community center building of the size and type generally discussed, and that the community "really should have such a building."

The big question seemed to be - where does the money come from?
